POLITIMENT AND THE TURF.

A Case in Which a Government Was Almost Overthrown by Ascot.

Five or six years ago an astute Radical, Mr. Samuel Storey, with characteristic wariness, very nearly caught the government of the day tripping. He had been "left speaking" on a Tuesday night in June and announced his intention to continue his remarks on a rather exhaustive scale upon the following Thursday, when the debate was to be resumed. This was just what a number of Unionist gentlemen wanted, for it happened that a little "event" known as the Gold Cup was to be decided that afternoon at Ascot, and, much as it

grieved them to miss the eloquence of

Mr. Storey, they were bound to choose between the two attractions. So—possibly with grieved hearts, and also possibly not—they bided their time until the Gold Cup was to be decided that afternoon at Ascot, and, much as it

Mr. Storey, they were bound to choose

THE SITUATION IN CUBA.

It is announced that Commissioner Calhoun has completed his investigation of affairs in Cuba and will return to the United States on the next steamer. He declines to furnish any information for publication, but will report personally to President McKinley. The substance of his report, will not, therefore, be disclosed, except through Government channels.

The Havana correspondent of the New York World, says, however, that Mr. Calhoun is puzzled. Many contradictory stories relative to the insurrection have been poured into his ears. Mr. Calhoun, however, is for peace, if peace be possible, and will recommend that the war be stopped at all hazards. He will urge in support of his recommendation, the condition of America and American interests in Cuba, and the frightful condition of the country people, which he knows from personal experience.

Isn't it strange, to say the least, that the recognition of the Cubans, or the question whether or not we shall have a controversy with Spain over the Cuban insurrection, depends upon the report of one man and that man one who is not responsible to the people? Mr. Calhoun was not delegated by the people to go to Cuba to investigate, nor was he sent there by Congress, though that body was in session when he left on his mission. He is responsible only to the President and is not accountable even to him for the truth of what he reports. If the President is favorably impressed with his report and disposed to act upon his suggestions and recommendations, he will so intimate to some of his mouthpieces in Congress and Speaker Reed will then permit the body to act.

Commissioner Calhoun is, therefore, the person who virtually determines whether or not the United States shall recognize the independence or the belligerency of Cuba. He is at present a bigger man than Tom Reed, and that, all things considered, is saying a great deal.

OREGON SILVER MEN.

A conference of silver men was held at Albany, Oregon, last Wednesday at which every county in the State was represented. The object of the conference was to unite all who are in favor of the restoration of silver in a union party. A declaration of principles was issued, which it is believed every silver man in the State will endorse. The principles enumerated are as follows:

"We demand the free and unlimited coinage of gold and silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, independent of any other nation; that the Government shall issue all money without the intervention of banks, and in sufficient quantity, and that no contract or law shall discriminate against any kind of money issued by the Government."

"We are opposed to the issue of United States interest-bearing bonds in time of peace, and we demand the redemption of Oregon from rings, combinations and corrupt methods. We demand that the people shall have the veto power over all legislative enactments by use of the referendum. We recommend and invite all reformers of the State to unite with us and we pledge ourselves to carry out the bond of union."

A detailed plan of organization was agreed upon and the State committee of the Union Bimetallic party was selected to effect a union of the Populist Silver party and the Bryan Democrats.

Division in the ranks of the silver men in Oregon gave the State to the gold men last year. Now it is proposed to unite the silver men of all parties against the common enemy and if wise counsel prevails that will be accomplished, and the State will be freed from the corrupt rings, which now control it and run it for their own selfish purposes.

A CONFERENCE of silver men is to be held at Chicago next Tuesday. It is expected that Senator Teller of Colorado, Senator Dubois of Idaho, Ex-Congressman Patterson of Colorado, Congressman Hartman of Montana and other prominent advocates of bimetallism, will be present. It is morally certain that the free coinage and equal use of gold and silver money will be the paramount issue in the next campaign, and a determined effort will be made to unite all the Democrats, Republicans, Populists, and Prohibitionists, who believe in the restoration of silver on that issue.

CHAIRMAN DINGLEY is consoling himself with the knowledge that while the Senate Finance Committee materially changed his bill, it is just as favorable to the trusts and almost as obnoxious to the people as when it passed the House of Representatives. Mr. Dingley is not hypocritical. He seems to have but one object in view, that of serving the trusts, and as they are satisfied with the senate bill he finds no fault.

The law is very lenient with Durrant. It has given him another lease of life by permitting him to take his case to the Supreme Court of the United States, in fact the law, or more properly speaking, the courts that administer the law, are always lenient with those who have money, and Durrant's friends seem to have plenty of cash and a disposition to spend it on his account.

TRIB TESTIMONIALS.

How One of Them Came to be Written. James McDonald, superintendent of the Sierra Lakes Ice Co., is a gentleman whom many people know. He employs from three hundred to five hundred workmen, up in the heart of the Sierras, in and around the little town of Boca, which takes its name from the Spanish—Boca, i.e., mouth. The "Little Truckee" dashing down, here joins its larger namesake.

A traveler who stepped off the train there one morning last week had no difficulty in placing a stock of Trib in the company store. When Mr. McDonald saw the sample package he said he had used several bottles of the liniment and it had served him so well in a serious case that he had perfect confidence in it.

A testimonial was suggested. He refused at first, fearing additional notoriety. When the value of his experience to the public was urged he consented, and gave the Trib agent this:

BOCA, CAL., May 26, 1897.

Trib Company—GENTLEMEN:—I have often wondered why people would give their names to patent medicine makers for publication. Certainly I never expected to do so. Some weeks ago I was laid up with a very severe stone bruise on my ankle. I lay in bed helpless for six days. I had at hand all the liniments and other common means for curing bruises. I used them. They gave me no help. A railroad man told me about Trib. I bought a bottle and used it—two bottles—three bottles. It cured me. I discarded my crutches. Now I know why people write testimonials. Trib is the only liniment for me. Use this, and welcome. Yours truly,

JAMES McDONALD,
Supt. S. L. I. Co.

In conversation, after delivering the written statement, Mr. McDonald said:

"I don't know much about testimonials, but this one is honest. I had used fourteen bottles of the best extract of witch hazel, which I believe to be a good thing. But it didn't reach. Then I used other liniments—good liniments, too—one fine horse liniment, till my nose's hands were skinned, and my foot blistered; then arnica and such things. I doubted if I'd ever have good use of that leg again. It was Freight Conductor Rogers of the Southern Pacific who told me about Trib—said his wife always kept it in the house. Now I'm ready to tell people. You may refer to me just as often as you like, and every one who writes to me will be answered to the effect that the testimonial given you is true in every particular."

CHURCH NOTICES.

Methodist Church—Sunday School 9:45 A. M. prompt; service and sermon, 11, topic, "Is Death The End?" Epworth League meeting at 6:15. Evening sermon 7:30, topic, "Come And See."

A Surprise Party.

The Reno Dramatic Club gave a surprise party to Professor and Mrs. Wilson last evening, who are about to leave Reno on a several weeks vacation, among those present were Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Curier, Mr. Chas. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. Shearer, Mrs. C. H. Stoddard, Miss Lillian Manns, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Rosenthal, T. E. DeLaMaty, H. P. Dunn and Jos. Brookman.

The evening was passed pleasantly recitations, dancing and music being the order and ending in a bounteous supply of refreshments. Prof. and Mrs. Wilson were the recipients of many good wishes.

COURSE OF LECTURES.

Dr. Bergstein will on this evening commence a series of training school lectures for attendants and nurses of the insane. The hour has been fixed at 7 o'clock and the lectures will be given at the Nevada Hospital for Mental Diseases.

The Doctor is determined to bring the institution which he now superintends, up to something near the standard of modern times.

The reason for holding the lectures on Sunday evening is because it is the only evening when all of the attendants of the hospital can attend.

A Runaway.

A horse attached to a light buggy belonging to Mrs. Hayman broke away from in front of the Opera House yesterday morning and dashed down Sierra street. At the Wm. Tell House the outfit tore two or three awning posts down and then collided with a hay wagon, demolishing the buggy, and the horse was finally caught in front of the Post office.

The runaway created considerable stir and gave an opportunity for a number of people to relate hair-breadth experiences.

A False Story.

The information given in a special telegram published in the Examiner under date of June 2d, and reproduced in several of the State papers that Mrs. Hartley applied for a position at the University and her application refused is emphatically pronounced untrue by those in position to know. This item was given to the JOURNAL some four days ago, but it declined to publish it as upon inquiry the report was positively denied.

The English Municipal Service.

Compared with other professions in England, the municipal service is on the whole fairly well paid. Salaries of town clerks range from £200 in towns of a population of 20,000 to £1,750 paid by Manchester, which has a population of 500,000, while municipal engineers are paid all the way up to £2,000 in towns of 20,000 to £1,000 a year paid by each of the municipalities of Manchester, Liverpool and Newcastle.

For these salaries the councils usually demand all the time of their servants. A lawyer or an engineer may do better as a private practitioner, but in the municipal service he is sure of his position and his pay, and it will be his own fault if he has not so organized his office and trained assistants that he can hold on to his position well on into an old age. Advancing years may tell against a man for appointment to a municipal office, but old age is seldom made the excuse for getting rid of a town clerk or a municipal engineer. Most of them die in harness, drawing full pay.

The subordinate clerks under the municipalities are not much better paid than clerks in law and mercantile offices. The reason why these positions are prized is that in such a position a man regards himself as placed for life and is consequently in the enjoyment of that feeling of settlement and that absolute security as to the future which are so dear to middle class Englishmen.

Excellent men of their class hold these positions. Their abilities and their responsibility would bring them the same salaries elsewhere, minus only the fixity of tenure which attaches to all grades of the municipal service. These subordinates, like their superiors in the paid municipal service, vote at all elections like other citizens. They never attempt to control how they vote, but the recurring elections give rise to no pleasurable or interesting disturbing apprehensions of any kind in their part. They are never used in the municipal campaigns and are seen to encounter the criticism of the town as a collection of individuals to a campaign.

NEW YORK.—

JULY 1.—

There were in any other country many speeches, lectures and essays on the subject of what was to be called the "new woman" as it had been the past winter. We think that as many as half of them have been in the New York papers within the past three months, concerning upon science, literature, the drama, reform, public duty, the arts and other high themes. We think that there are in this country more women able to deliver such discourses than could be found in all the other countries of the earth. A fair proportion of them are good scholars, readers and speakers, full of useful wisdom. It is a pleasure to listen to a speech, lecture or essay that is the production of such a woman. American women in these times are engaged in all kinds of business, and it is their privilege, or indeed their right, to engage in this kind. How melodious often is the voice of a woman of understanding!"
